

My name is Sikira Belo

I identify as She/Her

I performed an Afrobeat dance performance at a talent show in my school. I have learned how to sew but not professionally. My school collaborated with Dream Yard inc for us to sew clothing from our culture: African and Dominican and later we did a fashion show showcasing our creativity of what we created.

What I love most about anything related to arts and culture in the Bronx is that each culture represents well where they are. For example, each year the Dominican community does a parade to show their love for music and dance from their culture. And also love how hip hop and afrobeat have become so universal that each culture adores listening to their music and vibing to it.
